

FindPineapple — Playtest Rules Pack (v0.1)

Thank You

Thank you for being the guinea pigs of FindPineapple's debut game. You're helping shape this game while it's still messy, experimental, and rough. Your honesty, critique, and patience are appreciated. The most important part is to try to have fun.

What to Expect

- 1 This is an early prototype
- 2 The art is temporary
- 3 The balance is rough
- 4 The rules may change based on feedback

What We Need From You

- 1 Clarity — what confused you
- 2 Flow — what felt smooth or clunky
- 3 Fun — what felt exciting or frustrating
- 4 Balance — cards that felt too strong or weak
- 5 Traps — fair, predictable, or annoying?
- 6 Strategy — did choices feel meaningful?

What You Need to Play

- 1 15-card deck per player (built from the provided 30 cards)
- 2 2d6 dice (minimum 1)
- 3 A way to track 12 HP per player
- 4 Optional: pen and paper for notes

The Wager

At the start of each round, both players secretly choose a wager and reveal it. The wager determines which trap cards may be played and which wager bonuses may activate. After the round resolves, the losing player loses HP equal to their wager.

- 1 High Risk (■■■): Wager 5 HP — strongest effects
- 2 Medium Risk (■■): Wager 3 HP — balanced effects
- 3 Low Risk (■): Wager 2 HP — safer effects

Card Types

Phase 1 Cards: Played before dice are rolled. They influence how dice are rolled.

Phase 2 Cards: Played after dice are rolled. They influence how results are resolved.

Trap Cards: Played face-down in Phase 1 or Phase 2. They do nothing immediately and may trigger next round if conditions are met.

Setup

- 1 Each player builds a 15-card deck
- 2 Each player draws 5 cards
- 3 Each player starts with 12 HP

Round Structure

- 1 1. Choose a Wager
- 2 2. Phase 1 — each player plays one Phase 1 card
- 3 3. Roll Dice
- 4 4. Phase 2 — each player plays one Phase 2 card
- 5 5. Resolve Totals — highest total wins; loser loses HP equal to wager
- 6 6. Prepare for Next Round — discard phase cards, draw 1 card, traps remain

Trap Timing

If you armed a trap last round, it becomes active this round. When its condition is met, the trap triggers immediately. Only one trap may be armed at a time.

How to Win

Reduce your opponent's HP to 0.
